

FIRE SAFETY

MANCHESTER SAFETY TRAINING

Thankfully relatively few people have been involved in a fire, therefore the majority have little knowledge of the actions required to prevent or even survive a fire. Unfortunately for some, their first introduction to fire is often their last.

Fire Safety in the Home

Manchester Safety Training aims to reduce those fatalities and horrific injuries sustained, minimizing the heartache and pain suffered by family and friends. The Fire Safety in the Home workshop is delivered in two 1 hour presentations.

Part one highlights the dangers around the home and aims to educate, and reduce the chances of a fire developing in the home. It will ensure the audience is aware of the difference between a staged fire for a T.V. program or film for example, and the real thing, highlighting the inherent dangers associated with smoke. We will show the main causes of fire in the home and how it burns using conduction, convection, radiation and direct burning and how we can prevent that happening. Part two discusses the need for smoke alarms, explaining the optimum position to fix your alarm and why, how to test your alarms and the frequency of those tests. What to do in the event of a fire, how to escape if unfortunate enough to be involved, and how to exit a building safely using Fire Escape Plans.

After attending Fire Awareness training with 'Manchester Safety Training' you will have knowledge of the reality of fire and how unpredictable it is, how it spreads using Back drafts and Flash-overs and the speed with which the flames and smoke travel, also ensuring you understand the procedures when evacuating a premise involved in fire.

'Manchester Safety Training' can also provide workshops on the dangers and effects caused by Arson; the hazards and safe use of fireworks and bonfires; plus custom designed workshops especially for your needs and requirements. These specialist workshops can be designed to deal with real issues. What is the meaning and consequences of Arson? How can we measure the cost of Arson borne by families involved and the communities in which we live, both personal and financial? What constitutes a Hoax Call?

By using photographs and film footage, to show the possible results of making a Hoax Call or committing Arson; we explain the procedure taken by the emergency services when receiving a hoax call, the resources and manpower used. Discuss the laws in place to ensure the perpetrators are discouraged from making the call, for whatever reason.

In the weeks leading up to any Religious Festivals throughout the year where Bonfires / Fireworks are to be used, this hard hitting, thought provoking presentation will highlight the considerations undertaken and dangers associated with building Bonfires.

Utilizing over 30 years experience in the Fire and Rescue Service aided with photographs and video clips, 'Manchester Safety Training' will show the serious, sometimes fatal injuries sustained when using Fireworks, and the heartache and pain on family and friends. The workshop will prove that organized events are far safer than a private party in a garden or on waste land. The audience will also be made aware of the legal requirements and legislation in force, for the sale and use of Fireworks, and the penalties imposed for not adhering to them.

All 'Manchester Safety Training' workshops have been positively received by a number of schools and Social Groups throughout Manchester and the North West.

About Our Services

Every year in the UK people suffer horrific injuries and fatalities that could have been prevented or avoided with some basic knowledge and training. The sole aim at 'Manchester Safety Training' is to provide a safer environment in the home, at work and on our roads.
